- 1. Growing Global Opportunity - According to Grand View Research, the global legal cannabis industry is expected to reach $146.4 billion USD by the end of 2025, delivering a CAGR of 34.6% as cannabis use becomes increasingly legalized and accepted.²

- 3. Technological and Scientific Innovation - The increasing number of companies operating legally in the cannabis industry is expected to fuel technological and scientific innovation including the discovery of novel strains and use cases, new infusion methods, and healthier ways to deliver the product than smoking.

Overview

The EQM Global Cannabis Index (CANABIZ) tracks the price movements in shares of publicly traded global companies involved in the cannabis industry. This includes companies that interact directly with the cannabis plant, companies that support cannabis cultivation and retail, and ancillary companies that provide products and services to the broader cannabis industry.

Each Index Component receives either a CORE or NON-CORE weighting and is assigned to one of three cannabis industry sectors as defined by the Index provider: THE CANNABIS PLANT, SUPPORT and ANCILLARY.

Companies with 50% or more cannabis-related business are assigned to the CORE holding weighting pool, while companies with less than 50% of their business related to cannabis, are assigned to the NON-CORE holding weighting pool.

NON-CORE companies receive a one-half weight relative to an equal weighting, with the residual weight equally distributed among the remaining CORE holdings. If any individual sector weight exceeds 75% of the index portfolio, the constituent weights within that sector will be trimmed equally and redistributed among the other constituents.
